

HARBOR OF OSTEND CLOSED TO SUBMARINE TRAFFIC BY SECOND SWIFT BRITISH RAID

Cruiser Vindictive, Which Played a Part in the Attack on Zeebrugge, is Filled With Concrete and Sunk Across the Entrance; Germans are Taken by Surprise and Attackers Suffer Few Casualties.

BRITISH PROPERTY LOSS ONE MOTOR BOAT

LONDON, May 10.—The German submarine base of Ostend on the Belgian coast has been blocked as the result of a new raid by British naval forces, the admiralty announces. The obsolete cruiser Vindictive, filled with concrete, has been sunk across the entrance to the harbor. The British lost one motor boat. Their casualties were slight.

The statement follows: "Operations designed to close the port of Ostend and Zeebrugge were successfully completed last night when the obsolete cruiser Vindictive was sunk between the piers and across the entrance to Ostend harbor. Since the attack on Zeebrugge on April 23 the Vindictive had been filled with concrete and fitted as a block ship for this purpose. Our casualties were light."

SPECIAL PRAYER FOR

PEACE URGED BY POPE. ROME, May 10.—A special prayer for the cessation of the evil tormenting humanity during mass on St. Peter's day, June 29, is urged by Pope Benedict in a special message addressed to the whole world.

PLANS FOR SECOND

RAID WELL GUARDED. DOVER, England, May 10.—The decision to send the Vindictive to Ostend was made a few days after her return from the Zeebrugge raid, and no task of filling her with concrete was begun immediately. As in the joint raid on Zeebrugge and Ostend this latest British naval exploit was kept a well guarded secret. As an evidence of this it is recalled that after the battle scarred cruiser returned from Zeebrugge an urgent request was made that she be sent up the Thames to London for public view.

The authorities did not encourage the proposal and the agitation subsided. All the time the old vessel was being overhauled for her last voyage.

PAY IN ADVANCE IS NEW GARBAGE DISPOSAL PLAN

Revised Rates for Business Section Also, to Be Proposed Next Week.

CITY BEING CANVASSED

Agents of Department Making List of Persons Wishing Service and at Same Time Explaining the New System; Two Trucks at Work.

A new system—pay in advance—has been inaugurated by Dr. C. W. Utts, head of the garbage disposal department of the city; also at the next meeting of council the doctor will propose increased rates for collection in the business section. Collection will continue without additional charge in the residential sections. There the rate is a dollar per month. The pay in advance system is not meeting with entire popular approval. Some have been heard to say they will refuse to abide by this ruling. The opposition, as a rule, it is believed, arises from the experience that the garbage company neglected to remove the waste as agreed. Dr. Utts, however, thinks he has improved the whole plan and looks to it to work out smoothly and that the old trouble will be ironed out.

Collections will be made three times weekly—Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays in the business portion of the city and Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays in the residential.

All rates will be in advance. Tickets will be issued twice each month to subscribers. They will be punched by the drivers at the time the garbage is removed.

Dr. Utts states that the reason for advancing the business rates is only to make it possible to dispose of garbage without loss to the city, and that this is the only method to make the garbage department self-sustaining.

The department employs five men, and at present has two motor trucks. Agents of the department are making a house to house canvass of the city listing subscribers. Dr. Utts was unable to say how many have been secured. The work is not yet well under way.

The young soldier was a grandson of Stanislaw Laback, one of the oldest residents of Trotter, and a nephew of Mrs. Charles Dymbsky and Mrs. Kaiser Schultz, both of Trotter, and Frank Laback of Continental No. 2.

TEAMS WHICH MADE LIBERTY LOAN SUCCESS TO CANVASS IN RED CROSS WAR FUND DRIVE

The Connellsville executive committee is at work outlining the plans for carrying on the Red Cross War Fund campaign in this district. The Connellsville district executive committee consists of the following members: F. E. Markell, chairman; Robert Norris, J. E. Angle, J. L. Evans, P. W. Wright, W. D. McGinnis and Rev. J. T. Burns. This committee will likely announce in a short time the plans for canvassing this region.

DAWSON IN NEED OF NEW SCHOOL, SAYS DR. BELL

Situation Presented at Graduation of Town's Largest Class.

19 RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

Address to the Class is Delivered by Rev. W. B. Purnell, Who Uses Promising Note to Emphasize Remarks; Good Student Program Rendered.

The urgent need of a new school building at Dawson was presented before the people of that borough last night by Dr. H. J. Bell, a member of the board of directors, at the annual commencement exercises of the Dawson public schools held in the Coburn Memorial Methodist church. The large auditorium was filled to its utmost capacity, and that the suggestion of Dr. Bell met with warm approval of the audience was indicated by the generous applause which followed his remarks. Dr. Bell, in behalf of the board of directors, presented the diplomas to the class, giving the graduates valuable words of advice.

The 1918 class was the largest ever graduated from the schools and the work of each member was above the average. The class is composed of 19 members—12 young women and seven young men. They are: Olive Ruth Baum, Herbert Baum, Donald Bush, Nellie Cassell, Leroy Haas, Raymond Haas, Paul Landymore, Priscilla Love, Alice Martin, Anna Moline, Helen Mong, Edna Niswonger, Joseph Riddler, Martha Shepherd, Laura Shepherd, Helen Snyder, Joseph Snyder, Hannah Townsend and Mary Zimmerman.

Prof. A. J. Enos, the school principal, presided. The program opened with a violin and piano duet by Miss Alpha French and H. J. Crawford, followed by the precessional. The song of welcome by the class was the next number. This was followed by the invocation by Rev. G. M. Riley, pastor of the Baptist church.

The salutatory address by Donald Bush was splendid, as was the class history, ably presented by Miss Mary Zimmerman, who took "The Stream of Life" as her theme. In the course of her address she brought out that only three charter members of the senior class remained in the class for graduation. A vocal solo, "The Children's Home," by Mrs. James S. Langhrey, was beautifully rendered and well received.

CORPORAL HALL DILIGENT IN HIS CORRESPONDENCE; WRITES 52 LETTERS HOME

Few of the Connellsville boys who have entered the military service have been more regular or diligent in their correspondence than Corporal Eugene G. Hall, Jr., who is a member of Company B, 221st Field Signal Battalion, stationed at Camp Upton, N. Y. Since his departure from home about one and one-half months ago he has written 52 letters to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hall of East Murphy avenue.

He is greatly interested in the work of training for overseas service and like all his comrades is anxious to take passage for Over There. In a letter of a few days ago Corporal Hall relates his surprise at seeing Howard Reppert of Connellsville enter the Liberty Theatre at Camp Upton one evening. Howard left Connellsville for Camp Lee as one of the selectives a few months ago. He was transferred at a home of one of the late officers interested in the work of the Y. M. C. A.

One of the novel experiences of Corporal Hall was when his battalion hiked 11 miles to Wading river on Long Island Sound, camped on the sandy beach and spent the night in shelter tents with the sound of the surf to lull them to sleep. This is but one of a number of practice marches taken with full field equipment as a part of the training this unit is receiving.

"It is needless for me to say how glad I was to see him," writes Corporal Hall. "The sight of a familiar face from the old town was certainly a treat. He was the first boy from Connellsville I have seen in this camp."

COACHES OF TROOP TRAIN GO THROUGH TRESTLE NEAR CAMP JACKSON; SEVEN DEAD

Early Reports of 30 to 40 Bodies Recovered Are Not Borne Out by Later Advices; Five Are Killed and Two Die on Way to Hospital; Others Believed Fatally Injured.

SOLDIERS ARE ENROUTE TO ANOTHER CAMP

By Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 10.—Five soldiers were killed, two were so badly injured that they died enroute to the base hospital, four were seriously injured and 18 less seriously hurt when a wooden passenger coach, loaded with soldiers of the 321st Infantry and the 317th Machine Gun company jumped a trestle at Camp Jackson today.

The men had just entrained for the army cantonment at Camp Sevier at Greenville, S. C. Nearly all of the men in the wooden coach were either killed or seriously injured, according to early reports reaching here.

The coach jumped the track first and a steel coach followed, crushing it. It was reported no one in the steel coach was seriously hurt.

A telephone message reaching the city at 10:15 stated that between 30 and 40 bodies already had been taken from the wreck.

The soldier who brought the report of the wreck to the city said he was standing at the quartermaster's depot when he heard the crash of the falling cars.

Calling some officers he hurried over to the place and was appalled at the spectacle. The light coaches, he said, were crushed.

GREGG IMPROVED

Assault, Leo Oppman, is Rearrested and Taken to Uniontown.

The condition of George Gregg, who was struck over the head and badly injured Wednesday afternoon by Leo Oppman in the machine shop of the Boyle-Porter company as the result of a quarrel over Liberty Bonds, is reported improved today by Cottage State hospital authorities. It was stated at the hospital that unless other complications developed there were hopes for Gregg's recovery. He is now able to talk and is resting easier. His brother, Charles Gregg, a member of the Pittsburgh police force, who was called here Wednesday night, returned home this morning.

Following his release on bail of $500 Oppman was rearrested last night in response to orders received from District Attorney John S. Morrow and refused bail by Alderman S. H. Howard.

This morning he was taken to Uniontown by Constable Charles Wilson, where an effort to secure his release will be made. On the recovery of Gregg, Oppman will be given a hearing before Alderman Howard on charges of assault and battery and attempt to kill, made by Gregg's wife.

AN EXTENSION OF TIME IS GRANTED THOMPSON TRUSTEES TO CLOSE DEAL

Six Months Given for Preparation of Deeds; Greene County Mortgage Holders Are Blocked.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—The United States District Court of Appeals handed down a decision today granting an extension of six months to the trustees in bankruptcy of J. V. Thompson within which to adjust the financial affairs of that estate, particularly as relates to the so-called "fill" deal. At the same time the motion of the attorney representing the Greene county mortgage holders to dissolve the order restraining the sale of coal lands for delinquent taxes, and foreclosure of mortgages, was refused.

The effect of these decisions will be to afford time requested by the trustees within which to prepare the deeds and other documents as stipulated in the notice of acceptance of options on the Thompson coal holdings. Ralph J. Young, holder of all option, having notified the trustees that he is ready to begin payments of purchase money as soon as deeds are delivered and title confirmed. The decision also means that none of Thompson's coal holdings in Greene county can be sold for non-payment of taxes.

Attorneys of the government in charge of the prosecution of J. V. Thompson for alleged infractions of the banking laws, are making preparations to appeal from the decision of Judge Charles P. Orr in granting the Erie judgment. Before the witnesses left the court in Pittsburgh they were called for private examination by the government's attorneys.

The schedule for distribution of the money included in the Erie deal, confirmed by the court last month, is expected to be filed tomorrow, in which case the money will be ready for distribution some time during the next two weeks.

AND DUTY.The magnificent work of the Third Liberty Loan committee of Fayette county, and the fine spirit of cooperation displayed by the people in making that campaign so conspicuous a success, is going to serve as a splendid preparation for the Red Cross week.
The unselfish service this great organization is doing for the welfare of our soldiers and the soldiers of our Allies, and the stricken civilians who have suffered war's heaviest burdens, has become to be so much better appreciated and understood that when the people of America are asked, as they will be during the week beginning May 20, to provide funds for another year's activity by the Red Cross, they will be even more ready than they were a year ago to respond to the appeal. Moreover, the recent bond campaign has brought to them a more comprehensive understanding of the term service. They realize that dollars as well as men can be enlisted and that both are among the prime necessities in winning the war. They appreciate the difference between loaning money to the government and giving it to the Red Cross. While doing both is prompted by patriotism, the former is an investment in the safest securities in the world and the latter is a voluntary offering made as a measure of interest, sympathy and concern in the greatest humanitarian work ever undertaken.The purchase of a Liberty Bond brings the buyer into the relationship of a partner with the government in the sense that the money of the bond buyer goes directly into the vast business of running the country's war machinery, to be returned to the investor when the government no longer has need of it. In the conduct of war there are essential activities that can be better carried on by civilian organizations than by the government.
This condition called the Red Cross into existence and it is now recognized by all nations as the main organization or public instrumentality for relief of suffering inevitably resulting from war. It is maintained in its operations only by the liberality of those persons to whom the cry of the suffering or distressed never makes a vain appeal. About a year ago there was prompt and generous answer to the call for funds to adequately equip the Red Cross for the prodigious task laid upon it. Those obligations have been so fully and satisfactorily met and the people's trust has been so faithfully administered that the opportunity which is offered to again help in providing a Red Cross War Fund will be welcomed as a duty.This duty will be all the more willingly discharged by the people of Connellsville and vicinity because the entrances during the past year of hundreds of our young men into the military service has created a closer sympathy with that agency which, for ought we now know, may soon be called upon to lend its kindly ministrations to those who are close to us in the bonds of kinship and affection.Forgoing, as we will, the unprecedented demands upon our patriotism and liberality, we will gladly stand in the right spirit to the request of President Wilson, contained in his Red Cross Week proclamation, "to give generously to the continuation of the important work of relieving distress, restoring the waste of war and assisting in maintaining the morale of our own troops and the troops and peoples of our allies by this manifestation of effort and sacrifice on the part of those who, though not privileged to bear arms are of one spirit, purpose and determination with our warriors."WHY THE DEMOCRATS HOIST BENNY.Camouflage it all they may the efforts of the Democrats of the state to enlist the interest of the people in the candidacy of J. Denny O'Neill as the opponent of Senator Spry for the Republican gubernatorial election. The fact cannot be overestimated that the hope of the Democrats is that "Denny" will run independently, following his defeat at the primary election, and thus give an otherwise hopeless out-looked Democratic candidate a chance to win in November. In thus exploiting the candidacy of J. Denny as the opponent of Reform the Democratic organs are upholding him in the deceit he is attempting to practice upon the voters of the state.

"The man who seeks nomination on the Republican or Democratic ticket in a free and open primary tacitly agrees to abide by the decision of that primary," says the Harrisburg Telegraph, "and he is in honor bound to give his successful opponent just as heartily and sincere support at the general elections as he himself would have expected had he been the winner. This is the principle of majority rule. It is the method by which parties choose their candidates. It is the basis upon which the uniform primary is founded. Without it parties could not exist and nominations would be merely the decision of two or a hundred men to run for the same office, with resulting confusion and turmoil in an extreme degree, and the chances very good for an entirely unqualified man getting enough votes to win."

"If J. Denny O'Neill, or John R. K.
Scott, or others do not mean to be governed by the decision of the May primaries they should say so now, so that the voters may govern themselves accordingly. Surely the candidates mentioned do not have it in their hearts to deceive trusting supporters by their silence. They owe it to themselves and to all loyal Republicans to speak out. This is no time for concealment, particularly on the part of men who insist that they are leaders of great governmental reforms."

"If the men named do not mean to abide by the primaries then they no longer merit the consideration of Republican voters, for, with that admission, it would be evident that they meant only to carry their petty personal quarrels into the general election in an effort to defeat others for the offices they could not then hope to win for themselves, and so disrupt the Republican party in the state at a time when it is extremely important that Pennsylvania be kept at her Republican moorings. Silence on this point is not strengthening any of the candidates on the O'Neill slate. Rather, it is destined to rob them of votes they otherwise might receive, for, above all, the voters at the coming primaries want straight-forward, open and honest methods of campaigning. They are distrustful of anything else and are in no mood to tolerate hedging or dodging on any issue."

There has been no side-stepping on this or any other issue by Senator Spry, Senator Biddleman, candidates for governor and Lieutenant governor respectively, nor by Thomas S. Crago, candidate for re-election as congressman-at-large, a real fact that the voters know bears no resemblance to the make-believe efforts of the Democratic boosters of J. Denny.

The elimination of German from the schools is making much more rapid progress than the elimination of "United States" as it is being spoken by our men in France, who are serving as instructors in the Kaiser's course of study in the spring drive school on the western front.

The government is a good lumber customer, or rather a good lumber taxer, as Connellsville dealers are disposed to term Uncle Sam's method of buying.

With the United States Steel Corporation turning out heavy artillery and Charlie Schwab building ships to carry guns and troops across, it's only a question of time until the Red Cross will permanently go out of the war and Kaiser business.

Fayette county is some farm when you consider the figures compiled by the farm survey. And we have some farmers when you consider the statistics of their products.

Now that the Kaiser and his supporters and the Crown Prince and his followers are offering as to whether "Friday" has made good on the western front, the Big Drive may yet get into the prize fight class and end in hot air instead of hard punches.

After getting into the million dollar class on bond purchases it ought to be very easy for the Connellsville district to raise the trifling sum of $50,000 for the Red Cross.

Recognizing the raising of garden stuff as the chief industry of the season Mayor Duggan very properly has put the ban on raising the devil.

Better begin today planning that letter you are going to write mother on Mother's Day.

Just Folks

INVESTMENTS.

Investments, if I rightly learn, Are money spent that will return.
I don't know much of business ways.
In other fields I've spent my days.
But I have found, from what I'm told,
That when another risks his gold, He wants to know the man or men Who will be charged to guard it, when He is not there, and will it pay For him to chance his wealth that way.

Well, I am putting now my all In these investments—children small.
I think their future's worth the chance.

I think their value will advance.
I think they'll pay on what I've spent.
A greater rate than six per cent.
And viewed from every business way, I think those little ones today Are worth my best and finest care:
For all my riches center there.

I'm pledged to educate them well.
Some day I think their skill will sell.
And as they rise to service fine, Life's best reward will then be mine.
In truth and honor I would teach Them how the goals of life to reach: Would watch their footsteps lest they stray.

And come to better brief some day,
Their future means so much to me.
To them lies every joy to be.

Invested gold may bring returns, But gold is all that money earns,
And richer joy shall crown the strife That marks a well-invested life.
In them I would invest myself, And serve them daily more than self,
And look to them for dividends Of splendor when my service ends.
If only they shall turn out fine, Then great will be the joy that's mine.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"CONVICT No. 993"—In which Irene Castle, celebrated everywhere as the best known woman in America, and the Weekly Review are being shown today. Convict No. 993 is a crook play of the kind that every audience delights in. The denouement is unexpected. Held by the mystery and suspense the observer has made up his mind that the play can only end in one way, and then discovers that the way in which he expected it to end is wrong after all. There is plenty of action and considerable thrill. Mrs. Castle as Roslyn Azre has escaped from jail, where she has been sent for another offense. She is recognized by a former fellow prisoner, who sees in the girl's prosperity an opportunity for blackmail, and who enlists the aid of a gang of crooks to carry it out. Roslyn is an easy victim, as she has fallen in love with a wealthy young man who doubtless would turn against her if he knew her past. The young man hears Roslyn in conversation with the leader of the gang and learns that she consents to aid the crook steal the jewels of one of the guests at the house party. He watches that night, sees the crook and the girl with baggage all packed up for escape and come down stairs and then rushes out to confront them. Mrs. Castle danced herself into society and then into the hearts of the public and this naturally led to the motion picture studio, where she has added other legions to her admirers, who have now grown to feel that they know her personally. Monday, Viola Dana will be featured in "Breakers Ahead," a five-part Metro production, in which the popular little star is given an excellent opportunity to display her dramatic ability.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

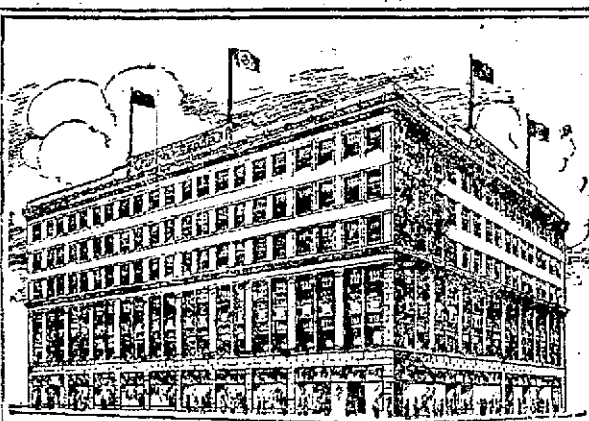

"LOVE LETTERS."—As Eileen Harland, young wife of a district attorney, Dorothy Dalton in "Love Letters," makes a desperate struggle for her husband's confidence. In her girlhood she had written indiscreet letters to Raymond Moreland, who poses as a teacher of erotic Eastern creeds, but is in reality a cad and a villain of the deepest dye. How she sacrifices herself to obtain these letters, only to fail and be accused of Moreland's murder, and how her husband's assistant, also an old lover of hers, clears her make a gripping photoplay. It is to be shown at this theatre today and tomorrow. Also Billy West in "The Scholar," a roaring King Bee comedy.

Lyman H. Howe has made a picturesque tour of Alaska, an important feature of his latest Travel Festival which comes to the Orpheum on Monday. One of the big things of Mr. Howe's scenic excursions through America's northern possession is a series of views of icebergs in their moment of formation. After great risk and delay, the persistent Howe cameraman recently caught some actually amazing "close-ups" of huge icebergs breaking off from primeval glaciers and crashing into the sea. Some of these glaciers are 75 to 350 miles long and 400 feet high. The effect of mighty avalanches of ice and snow sliding down the sides of these white mountains and plunging into the ocean directly in front of the camera is one of the most sensational things of nature ever filmed.

ARCADE THEATRE.

Charles Boyer's "Girls From Loveland" at the Arcade theatre all this week are true to their advance billing. The play is a musical comedy. The company is one of great merit. The principals are far above the average and the chorus is finely gowned. The young women are pretty and all have good voices. Miss Anna Britton is a stately looking young prima donna and does her share in an excellent way. Miss Eva Ring, the soprano of the company, sings and dances her way into the hearts of all present. Al Ring and Billy O'Connell are two very clever young men, both excellent dancers, singers and dancers. Dick Maddox, the principal comedian, is one of the best in his line. He keeps the audience in roars of laughter with a funny line of comedy. The company carries special scenery for each bill. The musical numbers are new. Today there will be a change of bill dealing with the war situation showing the funny side of life of the boys over there. Today and tomorrow will be a special war picture and a brand new Pathe Weekly. Starting Monday and Tuesday Helen Holmes will be seen in a new serial entitled "The Lost Express."

THE NEW FRANK & SEDER STORE

Will Be Thrown Open to the Public of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia

We have spoken a great deal of our new building; we have taken a pride in its construction; we know that all people are pleased to see such a representative building on the principal site and the busiest corner in the Metropolis of Western Pennsylvania to take the place of the old unsightly structures that formerly were there.

But it takes something more than a pile of brick and mortar to make a store; it is the spirit of the institution that creates a business. When our old store was destroyed eighteen months ago FRANK & SEDER WITHOUT A BUILDING were yet a REAL force in the business life of Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia. This was shown when we took over our present temporary store, the business of FRANK & SEDER was resumed immediately as if there had been no interruption.

So we want to impress the public with the fact that in the new Frank & Seder Building, large and imposing as it is, there will be found on every floor, in every department, in every nook and corner, the OLD FRANK & SEDER SPIRIT. We intend to be OURSELVES regardless of the clothes we wear. The new building simply gives us the opportunity to offer GREATER ASSORTMENTS, BETTER SERVICE and BETTER VALUES than ever before.

PETEY DINK—It Gave Pete More Fun Than Hitting the Ball

The Confessions of a German Deserter

Written by a Prussian Officer Who Participated in the Ravaging and Pillaging of Belgium

Copyright by Detroit Free Press

"Ah," exclaimed many of the soldiers, "the general staff—Duke Albrecht of Wurttemberg and his friends! Discontent and rumors of rebellion went through our ranks. Every body was mad and the accused for mental pain had no tendency to lighten our spirits. They have directed the slaughter of thousands and now they motor away," said one man while we lay here in a morass in the rain. We are not considered."

What we were to be assigned to do had not yet been told us. We were left lying in our swamp until ten o'clock that night. The troops continued to flow back in great disorganized contingents. Machine gun companies armed with empty wagons having lost their guns. The thundering of the cannon gradually came nearer from the west. The noise along the highways became greater and a panic spread among the thousands of the night. The fugitives wandered around in the darkness through the streaming rain trying to lead their wives and children to safety only to find death under the wheels of the wagons. The wounded were also mangled by scores of pitiless riles for help were heard everywhere. Under the strain of the traffic the roads became badly broken up and all along their sides abandoned vehicles of every description lay.

We started forward at about three o'clock in the morning and soon we were with the rear guard. Infantry regiments, now merely fragments of their former strength arrived in a fearful condition. The soldiers had thrown away their knapsacks and every unnecessary article which might be an impediment to speed. Before long the first enemy shrapnel burst over our heads which resulted in an even faster marching. The road used during the first march contained deep shell holes which were filled with water. In the heavy darkness men fell into these water holes. Thoroughly drenched we continued our march. No attention was paid to obstacles in the way over which we were constantly stumbling. Speed was the only aim. Dead men and horses lay in the middle of the road but no one took pains to remove them.

At dawn we arrived at a little village where we halted. We took possession and established as strong a temporary defense as possible in the time permitted. Our position was established behind a miller's mill. The troops continued to arrive but all were badly disorganized. Cavalry mounted artillery and machine-gun detachments followed. These had some sort of formation and while there was some disorder the panic which characterized the other units was missing here. They also showed evidences of having suffered losses but nothing in comparison to ours.

CHAPTER X

The enemy's shelling to reduce our position gradually grew stronger but without effect. Some houses caught fire. Enemy cavalry patrols in strong force appeared and disappeared again. Everything became quiet. Within ten minutes matters again became lively as large hostile columns approached. We retired some distance without firing a shot. The artillery took a position behind a village and began shelling the approaching enemy. A cavalry patrol galloped across an open field the horses covered with foam. We heard the commander of the patrol tell a cavalry officer that the enemy were approaching from all sides. We quickly left the village. The artillery remained and the cavalry detachments occupied a position while the cannon were trained on the enemy. Toward noon shrapnel shells again began raining over our heads, but they exploded too high in the air to do us any damage. Yet this seemed us a serious reminder to us that the enemy kept light on our heels a realization of which caused our retreat to become a rout. The numbers who dropped exhausted constantly increased. It was impossible to render them any assistance for there were no more wagons. Fugitive soldiers used their last atom of strength to drag themselves to the side of the road. Others fell where they were marching to be crushed soon afterward under the horses' hoofs or the wheels of any vehicle that might pass. The road was strewn with equipment thrown away by the soldiers. Our detachments had long since cast aside all unnecessary impediments.

In this way we proceeded until we reached a forest which was filled with fugitives. Many of these had stretched some sort of cloth from tree to tree as a protection from the rain. There they lay men, women and children and old men some in unpenetrable misery. This fugitive camp was spread over the forests to the edge of the road and as we passed we could see the forlorn woe in their faces by the terrible sufferings they had been through. They looked at us with weary and saddened eyes. The children begged for bread but we had none for ourselves even though we were tortured by hunger. The enemy's shrapnel continued to accompany us. Scarcely had we passed through the forest when shrapnel burst in it. As a consequence a camp of fugitives, now exposed to trench fire was abandoned and its numbers sought safety in the open fields. Many tried to accompany us until the order came forbidding them the road, as their advance hindered our movements. The fugitives therefore were forced into the rain soaked fields.

Toward evening we reached a village which had previously been sacked and here we found some rest. The mayor and two citizens of this village had been seized by the Germans and taken away under cavalry escort. Just why this had been done we were unable to find out. We did know however that almost every town was obliged to give hostages. Most of the cattle were taken along and large herds were transported to the rear by cavalry.

We belonged to the rear guards which explained why we were unable to find anything to eat. There was absolutely nothing to the village where we were now quartered. After half an hour with our hunger still unappeased we resumed our march. After we had marched about three kilometers we arrived at a spot which had formerly been a bivouac. Advancing parties had camped here perhaps eight days before. Bread which had been plentiful then lay strewn around on the ground. In spite of its water soaked condition it had been gathered up and eaten with ravenous appetites. Nothing mattered how our stomachs were filled if only our hunger might be appeased.

Night now came yet no sleep nor rest was in sight. No one knew how much farther we would have to retire before there would be a respite. The unfamiliar surroundings indicated to us that we were not returning over the road which we had traversed when we victors, we marched to the Marne. With this and similar thoughts our after hour passed. Some of us ran along others actually walked in their sleep. Our boots were filled with water yet we had to keep on. Thus the night passed.

The next morning troops of the main army were placed in the rear guard. They formed long columns which they opened to let us pass through after which they closed ranks. We gave a sigh of relief for we were at last free of hostile artillery fire. After marching about five more hours we joined a company of infantry which fortunately had saved its field kitchen. It was not quite dark when we reached the village.

Here we were billeted in order to get as much rest as possible. But we all knew that we could rest only as long as the rear guard was able to keep back the enemy. We were placed in the village school. Because of the shortage of provisions we were allowed to use our tinny supplies but none of us had any left. This consisted of some meat and hardtack. It had long since been eaten up and we were compelled to lie down with our hunger still unsatisfied.

CONNELLSVILLE BUSINESS MAN SINGS PRAISES

"I suffered for years with stomach trouble and gas continually. Doctors thought I had stomach ulcers or cancer. After last attack they advised going to Rochester, Minn., for an operation. A friend advised trying May's Wonderful Remedy, which I did, and I cannot sing its praises too highly, as I can now eat anything and everything." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. MORTGAGE OF STEEL CAUSING DELAY IN THE WAR PROGRAM

Not Speed Up to the Limit, Says Director Replieg of War Industries Board.

AN ENORMOUS TONNAGE

Needed for Government Uses, the Construction Program Being Slowed Down Even Steel People Imagine; Trade Pledges Every Assistance.

At a meeting of the steel men in the city of Judge E. H. Gary, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, some days ago, to consider the steel situation, J. L. Replieg, member of the War Industries Board, in the city that in most lines of steel products, made some rather startling declarations.

"It is my firm conviction," he said, and it is a proven fact, contrary to the general impression, that there is a surplus of steel, that there is a very small and acute shortage, which is slowing the war program. I do not believe that in most lines there is not sufficient capacity, if that capacity is fully utilized.

"If they had 100 per cent fuel and 100 per cent labor conditions, and 100 per cent transportation conditions, I believe in most lines of steel products the war necessities could be fully met. But that is not the condition.
We do not have 100 per cent fuel, transportation or labor, and we are not getting it. Transportation conditions are not materially improving in a general way; some places are better, some are worse, and other places they are still worse. And when we consider it is today, with the weather conditions and the transportation conditions, we are huddling when we contemplate the winter season before us.

"The building construction and lines of the United States government, incidentally, are some 20 per cent right now in excess of the total building construction of the United States for the three year period, 1915 and 1917—the United States construction program alone, 20 per cent, and that program is not designed—I mean the 1918 program—but they are draining into 1919 and 1920. The United States construction program is enormous. I think far beyond the impression of almost any of you.

"On plates, which is one of the most important, if not the most important, product we have, at the rate of production of the past three months there is now 32 weeks rolling, about eight months rolling, on the books, and the balance is being entered almost every week at a greater rate than it is being consumed. An enormous percentage of it is needed now. It is not only needed for our own operations, but for those of our allies.

"On projectile steel we have 36 weeks rolling, all of which of course is for the United States and allied armies. The consumption of projectile steel is going to be enormous. We will have to have at least 1,000,000 tons this year.

"We are rolling so much projectile steel on rail mills, and the rail situation is becoming so acute—the director general of railways says he will have to have 1,000,000 tons—that any increase in rail production will necessarily increase our trouble so far as projectile steel is concerned.

"On rails at the rate we have been rolling in the last three months we are 52 weeks' work ahead of us. 32 weeks, almost a year and three quarters of the rails we have been going out, we have less tonnage problem comparatively than the others.
We have 24 weeks' output at the production of the past three months in sheets.

"On the plate there is 23 weeks, on and under 23 weeks, wire and rod products 19 weeks, and on all the steel product report as taken from your records we have 31 weeks' operation at the production of the past three months, which has averaged about $40,000 tons per week, a little over 20,000,000 tons annually.

The nerves of the body are not like the telegraph system at the front. The millions of nerve filaments are like a network of wires that keep all the trenches in close sympathy and communion. Food supplies and reinforcements are dispatched here and there and so the nerves send increased blood and nourishment where it is most required. The nerve cells guide the heart and stomach. By this means the stream of blood laden with nourishment is sent to every part of the body.

"So it is that the blood feeds the nerves. If blood is impoverished, we feel nervous—sleepless—'fidgety.' The blood needs to be built up.
If we lack iron in our blood, we are pale, anemic, with no vim. We are nervous or tired. The thing to do is to obtain from your druggist the new iron tonic, called 'Ironite.' It is the discovery of Dr. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y. Try it now! Don't wait! Today is the day to begin. Put yourself in normal physical condition.

"If you like you can send 10c. to Dr. Pierce and get a trial package.
This 'Ironite' is a soluble form of iron combined with valuable herbal extracts rolled into a tablet that will give you 'pep.'

Most Old People Are Constipated

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, gentle in action, and especially adapted as a remedy for elderly people, women and children. It is the standard family remedy in countless homes. Sold by druggists everywhere for 50 cts. and $1.00—two sizes.

A trial bottle can be obtained, free of charge, by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 457 Washington St., Monroeville, Illinois.

"On seamless tubes there are 27 weeks at the rate we have been running. And on structural shapes it is the general impression that owing to the curtailment of building construction structural shapes will be comparatively easy. But the Emergency Steel and new car construction will alone involve 1,300,000 tons.
"I am here by order of the War Industries Board to request the American steel masters to meet the situation by speeding up production to the limit. As an aid to the diversion of steel to war uses it has been decided, after consultation with the transportation and fuel administrations, to go practically to the English system of an absolute prohibition on the consumption of any iron or the manufacture of any steel except for absolute war necessity. That has been done in England for several years."

POLICE OFFICER MONROE TALKS

Grateful to Tanlac for Wonderful Improvement in His Health.

Officer W. S. Monroe, who lives at 1731 Sixth St., Harrisburg, and is so popular among visitors to the park, said:

"My stomach had gone back on me entirely. I was constipated and my kidneys troubled me greatly.
"I had no appetite, my food didn't digest well and I lacked energy. I felt tired and dispirited all the time as though something unpleasant was going to happen. Nervousness, I guess.

"One day when I was down town I happened to talk with the Tanlac man and he told me of a number of cases similar to mine where the people, many of them right here in Harrisburg, had been cured by Tanlac. I bought a bottle and started taking it.
Well, sir, you can believe me or not, but the very first doses did me good.
I could feel it sort of noosing around inside of me hunting out the trouble, and before I had finished the first bottle I felt a hundred per cent better.

"Now I eat with a relish, my stomach is in fine shape and those bad headaches I used to suffer with have left me entirely and I can only thank Tamlac.

Tamlac can now be had at the Connellsville Drug Co.
Tamlac can also be secured in Dunbar at D. L. Eason's Drug Store.—Adv.

SELL YOUR WHEAT NOW IS APPEAL STATE FOOD ADMINISTRATOR MAKES

It is a Patriotic Duty to Deliver Every Bushel That Can Be Spared After Allowing for Home Needs.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—"A wheat crisis is now at hand," says State Food Administrator Heinz England and France are hungry and will need every kernel of our wheat to keep off starvation until the coming harvest brings relief. The first duty, the most patriotic duty, of every Pennsylvania farmer should be to deliver all available wheat to market at once, before May 20, if possible.
"Refusing or even delaying to sell wheat at the present time is unpatriotic. Over 90 per cent of the farmers of Pennsylvania have already sold their wheat; the other 10 per cent should do so. Let every farmer who has disposed of his wheat, make of himself a 'Minute Man' to see that all other farmers do likewise. Hoarding farmers and pro-German farmers are becoming more and more uncommon in Pennsylvania.

"Some farmers have not sold their wheat because of local physical difficulties in getting the wheat to market, such as misunderstanding as to price, failure to secure cars, and the absence of anyone actively interested in buying and shipping wheat. Arrangements have now been put into effect whereby local millers and ware-housemen will buy all wheat offered.
If you have wheat and meet with any difficulty in disposing of it, report the situation to your County Food Administrator or to the County Farm Bureau Agent and the matter will have prompt attention and relief.

"Make it a matter of local pride to see that there are no wheat slackers in your section. Due allowance must be made for wheat requirements for seed and flour. Beyond this every bushel should be moved to market at once. If this can be accomplished, it will be an achievement of which the farmers of Pennsylvania may be proud.

"I appeal to you as loyal, patriotic Pennsylvanians who have never failed the nation when it was in peril, to market this wheat now so that it may be sold no commandeering was necessary in this great state."

Dawson.

DAWSON, May 9.—Mrs. Charles Hensel and son Stanley of Uniontown, have returned home after a visit at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wong.

Mrs. A. J. Manning and Mrs. Percy Edwards were delegates to a convention of the foreign missions of the Presbyterian church at Scottsdale Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Jacobs and daughter, Miss Grace of East Liberty, have returned home from a visit to Camp Lee. William Jacobs, a son, is in training there. All the boys send back their best wishes and are all anxious to get a chance to get at the Kaiser.

Ray Neville was a recent business caller at Uniontown.
The bridge has now been raised at the last pier up to the regular grade.
This pier was not completed on account of lack of material. The scaffold has been torn down and all timbers and machinery have been shipped away which was used by the National Construction company in the raising of the bridge. With the laying of a few bricks at the Dickerson Run side of the bridge it will be completed, and does away with one of the most dangerous crossings in Fayette county.

Mrs. Glen Crossland has returned to her home at Donora after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E.
Strawn.

Too Innocent for Pa.
The young man who thought he knew how to manage old men told the girl whose father he had just interviewed on a matrimonial topic that he believed everything would be all right.

"We took to one another at once," he said. He even went so far as to borrow $10 from me. Surely, he can't refuse to let you marry me after that."

"Don't be too sure," she said. "You don't know me."
The next day he found that he did not, indeed, know her.

"You made a mess of it with that $10," the girl told him. "Pa says that you are too easy, and that I had better look for somebody more worldly minded."

HOW TO TELL WHEN VEGETABLES ARE READY FOR USE ON TABLE

Vegetables Like These, Grown in the Summer and Stored Until Needed, Vary Winter Diet.

Such vegetables as leaf lettuce, kale, spinach, parsley, chard, turnip, mustard, and any other used as a green or salad may be gathered as soon as large enough to pay for the gathering. It is an excellent plan to make a practice of thinning these crops and using the plants removed as greens or for other purposes. Chard must be used while young as it soon passes its best stage. Kale should be used while not actively young, as when young it is of much better quality than when allowed to become large. It is a far better plan to make frequent successive plantings of the foliage crops so as to have a supply of tender, succulent greens or salad material continually available.

Globe artichokes are ready for use as soon as the bur is formed and must be gathered before the blossoms appear. The bur is the bud of the flower and is used in the same way as turnips or kohlrabi.

Jerusalem artichokes are used in the same way as potatoes. They are ready for use in the autumn and may remain in the ground until needed.

Asparagus is ready for use as soon as the young shoots are three or four inches long. If allowed to grow too long the shoots will become tough and woody.

Beans (snap) are ready for use as soon as the bean is about half formed. In the stringless varieties the pods may be allowed to remain on the plant a little longer than the other sorts, but in every case they should be gathered while young and tender. Lima beans should be gathered as soon as the pods are well filled out, but before the pods begin to turn yellow. They should be gathered while the beans themselves still have a fresh, green appearance. After the beans become white they are past their prime.

Beets should be used while young and tender. The beets may be thinned as soon as they are two or three inches tall and the ones that are removed can be used in greens. The entire crop should be used before they are more than two inches in diameter. Successive plantings at intervals of two weeks are advisable so that a supply of tender beets will always be available.

Brussels sprouts are ready for use as soon as the heads are well formed and begin to crowd each other.

Cabbage is ready for use as soon as the heads are well formed and well blanched in the interior.

Chinese cabbage is ready for use as soon as well blanched.

Citrois may be used as soon as they reach a size to justify putting them. Many gardeners follow the practice of thinning the carrots and using those removed as vegetables or in soups. They may be grown as an all-season crop or as a late crop following something else. Size is not important, but very large ones are inclined to be tough and pithy.

Cauliflower is ready for use as soon as the bleached heads are well filled out with the masses of globular material which if allowed to develop would form seed. It is important that it be cut before the heads become old.

Celery is ready for use as soon as it reaches a good size and is blanched. It may be used green for stews, soups, etc.

Collards may be used as soon as the rosette of leaves which forms the head is developed and blanched.

Sweet corn should not be pulled until the ears are well filled out. This is about the time the silk begins to die. When the milk becomes doughy the corn is too old for table use.

Cucumbers are ready for use whenever large enough, and before they have begun to turn yellow.

Eggplants may be used at any time after the fruit is large enough to justify picking. It should not be allowed to remain on the bushes too long or decay will set in.

Endive should be used as soon as blanched. Blanching may be accomplished by tying the leaves together as soon as the plants are well grown.

Kohlrabi must be used while tender. This may easily be determined by cutting the thickened stem which constitutes the edible portion. If tough and stringy, it is too old.

Muskmelons—Color, size and general appearance serve as guides in telling when they are ready to pick. They should not be allowed to remain on the vines until dead ripe, as they are past their prime when fully ripened. Watermelons—Ripeness is determined by sound, and by the general

HOW TO GROW

Watermelon.

The watermelon requires considerable room, and unless there is an abundance of space available it should not be planted in the garden.

It is a heat-loving plant and the seeds should not be planted in the open until the ground is warm. This will be about one month after the last hard frost. They do best in a sandy soil, and require plenty of well-rotted manure for their best development. The usual method is to plant them in hills made up with plenty of well-rotted manure, about 10 feet apart each way. Some eight or ten seeds should be placed in each hill, and when the plants are well established they should be thinned to four plants in a hill. For full directions as to the control of insects and diseases affecting the watermelon, see Farmers' Bulletin 856, entitled "Control of Disease and Insect Enemies of the Home Vegetable Garden," U. S. Department of Agriculture.
